FRIDAY, OCT. 12, 1888.

It is rumored in Ottawa that the Hon. Mr. Dewdney, Minister of the Interior, will make an official visit to the Northwest this fall. If such should prove to be the case, an invitation should be extended to him to visit this District. Our requirements never received the attention which they merited until after the late Minister of the Interior came and saw for himself what was wanted, and we believe that a visit from the present Minister would benefit this District. We have been for a number of years urging on the Government the pressing need of a railway, but so far without success. True, they have granted charters and are reported to have entered into some arrangement with the directors of the Regina and Long Lake road, by terms of which that road is to be extended to Prince Albert some time in the uncertain future. So far we have been kept in blissful ignorance as to the terms of that agreement, and there is no indication of anything being done towards the construction of the road in question. If the holders of that or any other railway charter are not able to build, their charter should be cancelled. The Government should compel them to go ahead, and should give them such assistance as would secure the immediate construction of lines of railway to the principal settlements on the Saskatchewan. It would very soon pay to operate a railway to this district. This year, as well as former years, has demonstrated that good crops of all kinds can be raised, and the country is unsurpassed for stock-raising. Of course at present we do not raise more than enough for home consumption, and one train might carry out our entire surplus. But with the prospect of finding an outside market, thousands and thousands of bushels would be raised annually, even by the farmers we now have. A railway would bring in settlers, and our millions of acres of choice farming and grazing lands would become productive. Saskatchewan is the garden of the Northwest; its soil is as fertile as that of any other district, and there is abundance of wood, water and building material wherever a farmer chooses to locate. We get very few settlers for the reason that immigrants do not wish to go long distances from the line of railway, and wisely so. Those who do come do so because they have friends who located here in the days when it was expected the main line of the C. P. R. would pass through the district. They have been a good class of settlers, and notwithstanding the hardships incident to pioneer life and their many disappointments, have prospered. A railway coming to Prince Albert will not be coming to an unexplored desert; it will be coming to a large and thriving settlement, which will be—as soon as it arrives—in a position to give it considerable carrying to do. Mr. Dewdney, although familiar with Northwest affairs, has never been much in this district, has not been here for over four years, and then only for a day or two, and consequently cannot truly appreciate our position, but could learn a great deal which would be useful to him and beneficial to us by spending a few days in the town. We earnestly trust that should he visit the Territories he will find time to come to Prince Albert, where he will receive a hearty welcome.

Since the above was in type, we are pleased to learn that a telegram has been received here from the authorities of the Regina and Long Lake railway, stating that work had actually commenced on the road, that it would be pushed through as far as possible this fall, and in all probability the line will be running into Prince Albert by next fall.

THE FAIR.

Prize List of the Fifth Annual Exhibition of the Lorne Agricultural Society.

The fifth annual exhibition of the Lorne Agricultural Society which was held last week gave evidence of a decided improvement in several branches of industry in this district. The show of live stock was held in J. M. Campbell's corral on the McKay estate and owing to the impossibility of obtaining a suitable building for the exhibition of grain, roots and other classes the directors erected an immense tent on the cricket grounds; although the tent did not furnish the best of accommodation it answered the purpose very well and was the best that could be done under the circumstances. We cannot compare this with previous shows held here as it was so much better in every respect. The weather was perfectly charming and at an early hour in the forenoon the grounds were thronged with exhibitors and visitors from the town and country. The energetic secretary, the Rev Mr. Howard, was early on the ground receiving entries of which there were 683 as against 311 last year. The judges got to work at an early hour and by 2 o'clock had completed their labors when the doors were thrown open to the public. Nearly 2,000 people visited the exhibition and the few people who were present expressed themselves as surprised and pleased at the magnificent display of exhibits in all classes. The grain was of all first class quality and it must have puzzled the judges to determine which was entitled to the first prize. For red fye Chief Okamasis, of Duck Lake, took first prize. The H. B. Co's cup, for the best collection, two varieties of wheat, oats and barley, was awarded to Wm. Flaxton, M.L.A. In the horticultural department the exhibits were very numerous and of extra good quality; a better display of roots and other vegetables we have never seen at eastern fairs; while the size of the roots was enormous, the quality was of the highest standard.

In Class I, Stallions—there was a very fair showing; there were several entries in each section under this class. Thos. Sanderson took first for heavy draught, while for general purpose stallion, Wm. Patterson took the same place.

In Class II, thoroughbred and grade cattle—There were a large number of entries, and some magnificent herds were shown. In this class R. J. Pritchard carried off the most prizes, taking five first and six second places. John Stewart and Chas. Robertson & Sons, the latter from Carrot River, also were among the most successful exhibitors. Mr. Stewart was awarded the Merchants Stock Cup for the best head of thoroughbreds, one bull and two cows with their calves; this cup was won last year by C. Robertson & Sons. The cattle exhibited were all good stock and would rank high anywhere, some of them are imported animals which have carried off first prizes at eastern fairs and have been brought up here at a very great expense. There has been a great advance made in the improving live stock in this district since last year.

In class III, pigs—There were very few entries but there were some splendid specimens of the Berkshire breed. W. C. McKay was the leading exhibitor in this class and took all the prizes except two.

There were more entries in Class IV, sheep, than was expected and some of the pens were really good. Jas. Macarthur, P. Fraser, John Stewart and Chas. Robertson & Sons were among the chief exhibitors and prize winners. The first named gentleman winning the silver cup for the best pen consisting of ram, aged, two ewes, two shearlings and two lambs. Four years ago there was hardly a sheep in the district, now they number thousands and all of the best breeds.

There were some splendid specimens of poultry exhibited in Class V. Isaiah McCall and F. G. Orr being the most successful exhibitors.

In Class X, Dairy Products—There were a very large number entered. The competition in this class was very keen and it must have given the judges considerable tasting and thinking to arrive at a decision in many cases between the relative merits of different articles. Mrs. D. Sullivan, of Red Deer Hill, was awarded the Macdowall cup for the best tub and table butter, while Geo. Connors, of Carrot River, carried off the honors for factory and home made cheese and A. Cameron for home cured bacon and ham.

In Domestic Manufactures there were also a great number of entries chiefly in wool work, bread, jams and jellies; all the exhibits in this department were good. Miss Laura Pritchard winning the greatest number of prizes.

In the Ladies Department the entries were numerous. There was a beautiful display of fancy articles which gave an air of elegance to the show. Mrs. Dr. Jardine was the most successful of the exhibitors in this department. Miss Macdonald and Miss Laura Pritchard were also very successful in carrying off a number of prizes, and had a beautiful collection of fancy work on exhibition. There was a prize for the best collection in this department but the judges failed to make the award.

Mrs. Cameron carried off the special prize given by J. F. Betts, M.L.A., for the greatest number of entries, she having fifty-six. The Indians from Beary's and Okamasis' Reserves, at Duck Lake, are deserving of special mention, they have always been good workers and raise good crops. Last year they took first prize for wheat and succeeded in doing the same this year. Mr. Louis Marion being their instructor and he has certainly succeeded well in teaching them the art of agriculture. The officers of the society are to be congratulated on the success of the exhibition. Everything was well conducted, and considering the limited means at their disposal the arrangements were first-class. While it must be expected that dissatisfaction with the awards will exist, we believe that the judges have generally given satisfaction. During the afternoon the P. A. C. Band played a number of select airs on the grounds which were highly appreciated. A few sneak thieves appear to have been around the exhibits during the afternoon as some articles were carried off by parties other than the owners. We trust that next year the society will have a permanent building and grounds of its own in which to hold the exhibition and hope that farmers and others will give such a scheme all the assistance they can. The following is the complete prize list:—
